Today's Participants

How would you rate the maturity of product innovation capabilities in your company?
On a scale of 1-5. 1 being poor and 5 being Excellent

“In 10 years, it’s predicted that 40% of the Fortune 500 companies will no longer exist.”

A black and white photograph of a cemetery where the gravestones are replaced by logos of various companies. Some stones feature names like 'Lehman Brothers', 'Blockbuster', 'Circuit City', 'Countrywide Home Loans', 'Arthur Andersen', and 'Reader's Digest'. Many stones have a large question mark on them, symbolizing uncertainty or the unknown future of these companies. The text is overlaid on this image.

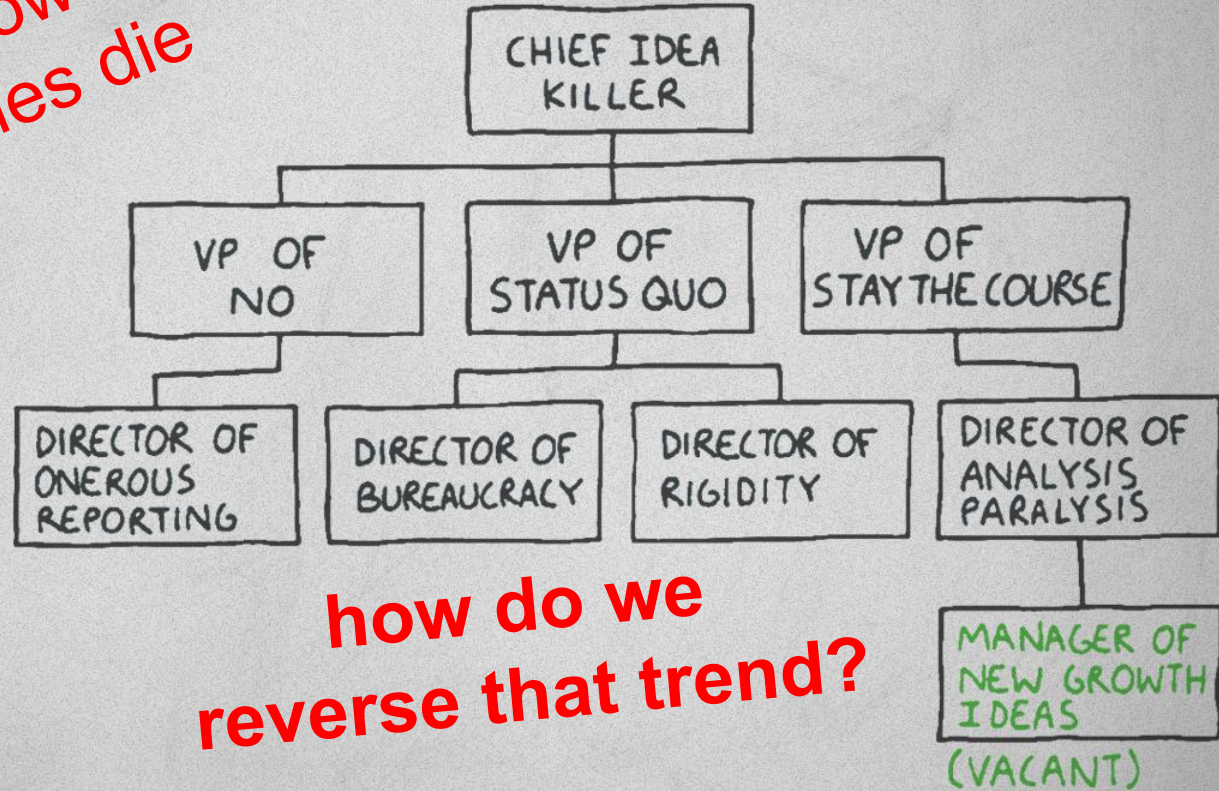

The average lifespan of a company listed in the S&P 500 has decreased from 67 years in the 1920's to 15 years today.

By 2027, more than three quarters of the S&P 500 will be new companies that we have not heard of yet.

Richard Foster, Yale University

Why do large companies go out of business?

all of us know
why companies die

how do we reverse that trend?

1. we must understand the urgency

Innovation is about growth

Hyper-connectivity

Speed of innovation

Lower cost of innovation

Access to funding

2020 □ $6B
IP DEVICES

2020 □ $100B
MOBILE APPS

$5M □ $5K

$50B
CAPITAL

2. we need to redefine innovation

Q: What is innovation?

Invention

New things

New ways of doing things

State of Mind

All of the above

Its critical that we differentiate invention from innovation

To survive and grow, companies must empower every employee to innovate and make a meaningful difference

Innovation is about everything

Innovation is for everyone

Innovation is not limited to select few

Innovators are more important than innovation

Cisco example: everyone has a role to play

(Co-) Founders

- Hacker
- Hustler
- Designer
- Visionary

Angels

- Coaches
- Mentors
- Judges
- Investors

Cisco: empowering every employee to innovate and make a meaningful difference

3.

We must establish clear business case for innovation & explain it well

Q:

Do you believe most companies know what they should be innovating on?

Yes

No

Why We Innovate

Exceed customer needs

Drive profitable growth

Squelch the competition

Attract and retain talent

Improve world conditions

How to define an innovation ambition

The innovation ambition

1. describes a disruptive transformation that would benefit the entire industry
2. scopes the discrete design challenge for participants

Crafting an innovation ambition requires to

1. focus on a single leverage point that can then be scaled across your business
2. make it measurable so that we can answer the question “are we there yet?”
3. make it SIMPLE, EASY to UNDERSTAND, and CLEAR to ALL

Some good vs. bad innovation ambitions

BAD: Frictionless Retail

GOOD: Remove queues from the payment process

BAD: Automating Supply Chain

GOOD: Eliminate risk around goods in transit, by truck, train and plane

BAD: Transform remote patient care

GOOD: Reduce hospital readmissions and associated costs through remote acute patient monitoring. care

let's combat fake innovation before it's too late

Our innovation dilemma

"There are a lot of great programs, but folks don't know about them"

"We don't adequately reward risk taking"

"We are working in silos"

"We are not moving fast enough or bold enough to meet changing customer needs"

"Too much red tape"

"We haven't shown commitment to long-term innovation"

"We are optimized for efficiency not innovation"

"We have no funding"

"We don't follow through with employee ideas"

"Not my job to innovate"

"I have nowhere to go with my ideas"

"We keep hearing that failure is not an option"

5.

embrace the ecosystem for sustainability and growth

6.

ditch company politics &
bring everyone together

Q:

What is the main difference between corporation and a startup?

Size
Profitability
Sustainability
Culture

7.

Key takeaways

1. Define what innovation is and isn't for your company
2. Innovate for a reason: survival and growth
3. Innovation is about culture, not an outcome
4. Fake innovation is poisonous
5. Innovation is a team sport

Disrupt or die
